

Bird's Eye View Of Democratic Convention

BY MARGO WILLIAMS

One broken toe, a limited diet and deafen eardrums are only a few results of the 1964 Democratic National Convention.

From the first night at the convention held last week in Atlantic City, New Jersey, an innocent bystander realized quickly that the most fun of the week would be in observing certain factions within the party.

The group I choose to follow was the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party.

The Mississippi delegation (the one made up primarily of Negroes) proved to offer more excitement than the rest of the convention during the first three days.

The first notice of the demonstrations held by the Freedom delegation sympathizers was Monday morning. A group of some 25 persons was seated on the famous Boardwalk in front of Convention Hall.

I peddled around the silent demonstrators to read the various homemade signs, which all held.

"One Man...One Vote," "Freedom Now," "Seat the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Delegates."

The signs were large, small, neat, messy, but all carried the theme of freedom for the Negroes of the United States.

I stopped to talk with several of the young people, both Negroes and Whites, but was told they could not speak.

"You must talk with our captain. We are not allowed to talk with anyone," one of the boys told me.

I turned to a colored girl who asked me what I wanted to know.

My questions were directed to find out the purpose of the demonstration, who was participating and what the results might be.

The girl explained that the small group of sign holders hoped to influence the Democratic Party Credentials Committee into letting the Freedom delegates be seated at the convention, rather than the regular delegation from Mississippi.

"These people are sitting in silent vigilance to show how sincere they are about wanting the Freedom group to be seated.

"The silence is their way of expressing their true feelings. They feel very deeply about the delegation's right to be seated," she explained.

"Are you from Mississippi?" I asked.

"No, I'm from New York, but I have spent the last year in the South working with the Negroes through the Congress on Racial Equality and other organizations," she answered.

At this time a young colored man walked up to talk with the girl. I asked him if he also was a captain, and he answered in the affirmative.

But he also was not from Mississippi. He was from New York.

Another question had to be answered before I could continue my bicycle journey down the Boardwalk.

"What if the Mississippi Freedom delegation does not get seated?"

"We have full confidence that they will," she continued.

"But what if they don't?" I pressed.

"We expect them to. If they don't we have no plans. We will be terribly disappointed. It is an important matter to all of us...all Americans. They should be seated," she said.

While we stood and talked, hundreds of convention visitors strolled by, some stopping to read the signs, others glancing at the silent, seated circle of people, still others walking over and asking one of the captains where they could join up. Most of the demonstrators were young, many of them dressed in the Young Citizens for Johnson uniforms. They all seemed determined to let people know, through their silence that they were sincere.

Few people doubted their sincerity. Many in the group had been sitting or standing around their designated spot for more than 24 hours.

The true answer to many questions concerning the next move of the group came Tuesday evening after the Credentials Committee announced that two of the Freedom delegates could be seated on the floor of the convention with the regular delegation.

This decision pleased neither side, with the regular delegation saying the other group from Mississippi was illegal, and the Freedom organization crying that their entire delegation should be seated, in place of the first delegation.

With both sides expressing dislike for the compromise plan the Freedom group began to plan action.

By 6:15 Tuesday evening, a huge crowd of both Negroes and Whites had gathered outside the gates of Convention Hall.

Shoving, pushing, speeches, singing, shouting, the Boardwalk was crammed with people signs and buttons, a typical convention scene.

Most of the crowd moved slowly through the gates into the main auditorium of the hall. But a quick glance through the tightly packed mass of people showed that the Freedom supporters had remained outside en masse.

I saw a television commentator head toward the center of the singing demonstrators and grabbed for his coat tail. He turned and asked a natural question, "What are you doing?"

I simply answered I wanted to get to the center, and knew with his experience with crowds he could find the way. He shrugged and nodded, and off we went...into the most heavily compact bunch of people I've ever vent-

Musgrave New CHS Counselor

Ray Musgrave, assistant basketball coach at West Texas State University, has been named guidance counselor at Canyon High School.

He will not be connected with coaching in Canyon, according to Superintendent Hueyn Laycock.

Musgrave, who was associated with the Department of Education at WT, was assistant basketball coach under Jimmy Viramontes, present basketball coach, and Metz LaFollette, former coach at WT.

Viramontes indicated this week that a replacement will not be named.

A spokesman at WT said this week that two former Buff cagers would be named as student assistants to Viramontes. One student will handle the freshmen and the other will assist with the varsity.

Musgrave was born in Ardmore, Oklahoma Nov. 25, 1922. He graduated from Seminole High School and accepted a bas-kethall and football scholarship to Texas School of Mines in El Paso.

After a year of college, Musgrave joined the Navy during World War II and saw action in the South Pacific. He was injured in 1943 and remained in a hospital for 13 months.

"After I got out of the hospital I returned to the South Pacific Islands where I participated in the first atom bomb testing program," Musgrave recalled.

Following his discharge from the Navy, Musgrave attended Texas Christian University in Fort Worth. He graduated in 1950 and took a teaching position with the Lubbock system.

He taught in Lubbock for five years, and while there he was elected president of the Classroom Teachers Association.

Musgrave received his masters degree in education in 1952 from Texas Tech and began working on his doctorate degree in 1954.

He dropped out of the program for five years and re-entered the doctorate program in 1960.

He will take his qualifying examination in 1965 and continue working on his dissertation.

He resigned his post in Lubbock to teach in Seminole. He taught in the junior high school and the high school in Seminole during the eight years with the system.

Two years ago Musgrave joined the education department at West Texas State and coached the freshmen basketball team.

He and his wife, Callie Maurine, were married in 1947. Mrs. Musgrave is a registered nurse at Neblett Hospital in Canyon. The couple has one daughter, Doe Ann, 9, who is a fourth grade student.

Presidential Straw Vote Set By News

The Canyon News is giving you an opportunity to cast a vote for President in a straw ballot this week. The ballot is located on the editorial page, which is page 2 of this section.

By this means The News hopes to be able to predict a trend in this community.

Mark the candidate of your choice and get your ballot in the mail by 5 o'clock Monday afternoon. Mail to Box 240, Canyon, Texas.

Principal Goes Home This Week

Oscar Hinger, Rex Reeves Elementary School principal, will probably leave Neblett Hospital sometime this week.

Dr. Robert Jarrett, attending physician, said Hinger should be able to leave the hospital one day this week. A definite day had not been set at presstime Wednesday.

Hinger suffered a heart attack several weeks ago, but is doing fine, according to Jarrett. "He is able to have a limited number of visitors for a short time," the doctor said.

Hinger should be able to return to work in several weeks, Jarrett continued.

"He should be back to work in two or three weeks. It shouldn't be too long," Jarrett said.

Medical Technology Course Also Sought

A proposed school of nursing for West Texas State University cleared its first hurdle Friday.

Meeting at Alpine, the board of regents gave West Texas State permission to seek approval of the Texas Commission on Higher Education for a bachelor's degree program in nursing.

West Texas State also was granted permission to seek approval for a bachelor's degree program in medical technology, a new major in business economics, a bachelor of public administration degree and a master of science degree with majors in biology, chemistry, mathematics and physics.

Dr. Emmitt Smith, director of program development and research at WTSU, said applications will be submitted to the commission at its fall meeting.

He said that if processing of the requests runs true to form, they will be turned over to the commission staff for study and will be returned to the commission along with recommendations in about six months.

Approval will also be sought to change the name of the existing major, "Secretarial Science," to "Secretarial Studies," in the School of Business.

The bachelor's degree program in nursing would involve the addition of a department of nursing at the university to administer the program in conjunction with hospitals of the region. The general education and basic science courses are already available at WTSU.

Under the plan, basic requirements for the bachelor's degree at WTSU would be met, along with requirements on a professional level for nurses on a cooperative arrangement with area hospital schools of nursing. Registered nurses can earn university degrees at the completion of their training.

The nursing program was submitted to WTSU's board of regents after a survey committee, composed of WTSU personnel, representatives of major hospitals in Amarillo, Amarillo College, and the Amarillo public schools, outlined the need for the project.

"All the non-degree nurses have the equivalent of three years of college education," said Dr. Smith. "Typically, their deficiencies lie in general education, public health, and psychiatric nursing."

"Questionnaires were distributed to approximately 580 nurses in the Panhandle area," Dr. Smith said. "Of the 313 returns, 41 held college degrees. There were 195 Registered Nurses who expressed an interest in pursuing a baccalaureate program in nursing at West Texas State."

The medical technology program would be administered by the department of chemistry at WTSU, and professional and clinical courses of one year, now offered at Northwest Texas Hospital, would be approved toward the degree program. General education and basic science courses making up the first three years of the program area already offered at WTSU.

A Bachelor of Public Administration degree, as proposed to the Texas Commission on Higher Education, would be jointly administered by the WTSU School of Business and the department of economics-government-sociology.

Completion of the program would qualify graduates for positions in the areas of public administration, city planning, municipal finance, and allied fields, according to Dr. James P. Corneille, WT President.

All the courses for the proposed degree are already offered by WTSU, along with those

Enrollment Climbs To New High

Canyon Public School enrollment figures for the first two days of school reached 2,165, according to Superintendent Hueyn Laycock.

The total as of Sept. 1, 1964, was 237 students over the number enrolled by Sept. 10 of last year.

Laycock said the biggest load of the increase was being felt in the high school.

"Last year we had 386 students enrolled in the high school by Sept. 10. This year 454 students are attending classes in the high school building," Laycock pointed out.

The increase in the entire system is 12.3 percent over the Going off to your first day of school is a big turning point in a man's life, and it looks as though Gary Cooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Penny Cooper, is not too sure of the outcome. Gary spent his first day at Rex Reeves Elementary School Monday, August 31, but there's something about that last good-by kiss from Ma that sometimes gets a man down.

T.P. Carruth Student Dean At West Texas

Dr. T. Paige Carruth has been named dean of student life at West Texas State University.

Dr. Carruth's duties will include those formerly discharged by Dean Mitchell Jones, who had served West Texas State as dean of men since 1946.

Dean Jones will continue to teach at West Texas State.

"I've always wanted to turn the job over to a superior young man," Dean Jones said this week.

"The president thinks he's found one. I know he has," Dr. Carruth, a native of Vernon, is a graduate of Canyon High School, having received his diploma here in 1948.

He received B.S. and M. Ed. Degrees from West Texas State and his doctorate from Texas Technological College.

Dr. Carruth taught three years at Kermit and held a teaching fellowship in 1958 and 1959 while in residency at Texas Tech.

He joined the administrative staff at West Texas State in September of 1959 as director of men's housing and assistant professor of education. He also served under Dean Jones as associate dean of men.

In his present capacity of dean of student life, Dr. Carruth will be responsible for coordination of all phases of student life.

Dr. Carruth belongs to at least a half dozen professional organizations. He is currently serving as a chapter president of Phi Delta Kappa and is secretary-treasurer of Texas Association of Student Personnel Administrators.

He served as a judge for teacher of the year competition for Texas junior colleges in 1963-64. He is vice-president and president-elect of Panhandle School Teachers Association.

Dr. Carruth also is active in the affairs of his community. He is a member of the board of First Methodist Church and is president of the Canyon Rotary Club.

He is a director of Canyon Chamber of Commerce and a director of the Randall County Sportsman Club. He was chairman of the American Cancer Society Crusade in April.

City Steps Up Spray Activity

City health authorities stepped up insecticide spraying here to once a week this week as doctors reported one case of possible encephalitis.

Physicians at Neblett Hospital said a 6-year-old Canyon girl is ill with what could be encephalitis. Definite diagnosis will not be made until laboratory tests have been completed.

Animals, especially horses, are susceptible to the virus which causes encephalitis. Dr. Joe Markham, veterinarian, said a horse died here about three weeks ago with what may have been encephalitis. He said he has another animal under treatment for what he believes might be the disease.

Encephalitis is caused by a virus carried by the culex mosquito. People do not directly infect each other.

It takes from four to 21 days for the disease to develop, scientists report. It attacks the central nervous system and the brain.

Symptoms may start with high fever, headache and dizziness, often followed by drowsiness—even stupor. Some victims become mentally confused and develop speech difficulties.

Encephalitis is particularly dangerous to children and to the elderly.

City Manager Dewey Bryant said the city has been sprayed every other week. Dr. Albert Randall, director of the Bi-City County Health Unit, advised that spraying be stepped up to twice a week.

Canyon's spraying equipment has broken down beyond repair, Bryant reported. The city of Amarillo is supplying equipment to Canyon on a temporary basis.

Bryant said a new spraying machine is expected to arrive momentarily and then spraying will be done every other day.

In the meantime, Canyon physicians urge that all precautions be taken to guard against insect bites. One doctor advised that bedrooms be sprayed with household insecticide before bedtime.

Doctors also advised that breeding places of mosquitoes be eradicated. These include weeds, grass, old tires, cans or anything that might provide a receptacle for water.

This young man has a big jersey to fill. He is David Fleming, a 175-pound sophomore from Pasadena. David is sporting jersey Number 10, the old jersey of Jerry Richardson. A product of Umler and Canyon, Richardson is one of the greatest backs in the football history of West Texas State. He is playing pro football this year after a brilliant college career.

High Cost Of Tariff

AN EDITORIAL

We have heard the terms "liberal" and "conservative" bandied about until it has become difficult to define either. The term "giveaway" often has a different meaning for every person who uses it.

We would like to bring a new term to the political dictionary at this crucial point and that term is "protectionism." By protectionism we refer to those who would protect certain segments of our economy through high tariffs, restricted imports and other gimmicks while asking certain other segments of the economy to compete on a free market. We will be specific. The cameras we use are made in West Germany. They are the finest of their kind in the world. The cost locally of this particular camera is $399—a great deal of which represents import duties.

These duties are not levied in order to pay for the administration of US customs. They are levied in order to run up the price of the German camera and protect US camera manufacturers.

Protective tariffs were needed in the infancy of US industry but industry in this country is of age now and it seems to us that it should at last be on its own.

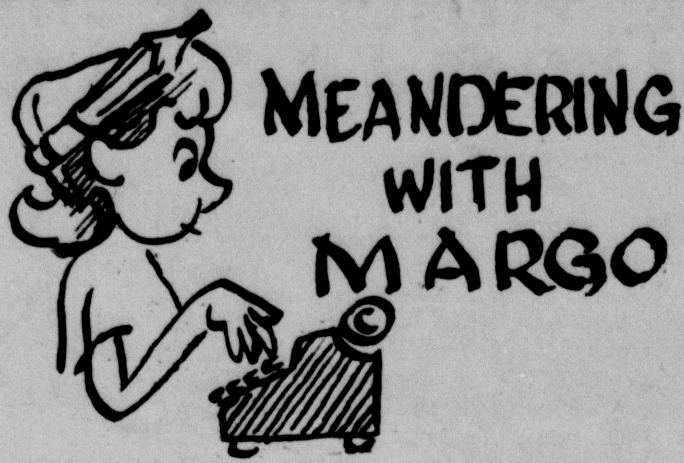

The camera we mentioned is only one of many things which are manufactured cheaply abroad and sold at high prices here because of protective tariff.

How is American agriculture, for instance, going to compete with foreign agriculture if prices of goods purchased by the American farmer is kept high by protective tariff. Protective tariff amounts to subsidy and is a part of the vicious circle.

Protectionism is just as much a part of a welfare state as is Medicare.

We have heard neither of the major parties express themselves on this subject.

We do not offer a remedy. That is for the men in government to find. We do point out a fact. A high tariff, running up the price of a Rollei-Flex camera is just as much of a subsidy to Eastman Kodak Company as is a price support check to a Plains wheat farmer.

MEANDERING WITH MARGO

After attending two conventions, four years apart but the same party, a realization struck home this week.

The most exciting national party conventions are the ones full of "politicizing" for the top spots on the party's ballot.

The Democratic convention four years ago in Los Angeles was full of eager participation by all delegates attending the week-long meeting.

This year the convention was full only of observation by the delegates.

The difference was in the race for the party's presidential nominee.

In 1960 Lyndon B. Johnson and John F. Kennedy were struggling within the party for the same spot. Only one could win, but each had their sides, their supporters who wanted their candidate to win.

All delegates were busy day and night. No one slept, no one had time to tour Los Angeles, no one had time to do anything but campaign and convince for their man.

The 1964 Democratic convention spelled a different picture.

The delegates had no job. They only had to cry out in unison for their man: President of the United States, Lyndon B. Johnson.

They had only to shout and cheer for Johnson's choice for a running mate. The delegates had no functional job. They were there only to give support, not to make a decision.

Both types of conventions prove interesting. From a reporter's viewpoint, the 1960 convention offered more news copy. New developments were opening every minute. Delegates were changing their votes constantly. Until the final vote on the convention floor in 1960, few actually knew what the outcome would be.

The suspense was killing for those who had worked for either man.

In the recent convention in Atlantic City, few major developments were occurring.

The Freedom Democratic Party from Mississippi offered some conflict, but party officials handled the situation so smoothly that no drastic scene was made.

The convention was planned from beginning to end and planned well. Democratic leaders were in constant control of all situations and few blunders were made.

The finesse used in maneuvering the convention through four days of meetings, planning sessions, demonstrations and gala celebrating was remarkable.

Convention goers may have been bored often with the sessions, but all was recovered with the spectacular entrance of President Johnson and the memorial film of the late John F. Kennedy.

A national political convention is an experience which should be studied, enjoyed and participated in.

People of both parties should take an active interest in a political policy. They are helping to shape the road for the next President of the United States.

FROM THE

CANYON RIM

Most of us don't realize a man's worth until his services are no longer to be had.

A lot of us are realizing for the first time just how much the services of Oscar Hinger are worth to the Canyon community.

Oscar has been laid low by a heart attack and as school opens he is resting, on strict orders from his physician.

Oscar was just rounding out one of the most rigorous summer programs of his career when the blow fell. He started the summer off with a bang.

Hardly had the last notes of the school bell faded until Oscar was at Possum Kingdom with a group of Boy Scouts. He is Scoutmaster for Troop 66.

He was there supervising a three-day camping trip for his troop. Oscar rode herd on both Scouts and dads.

Oscar knows what he's doing on these trips. He assumes responsibility and there can be a cold edge in this gentle schoolmaster's voice when it becomes necessary.

Back from Possum Kingdom, Oscar was off to the camporee at Camp Don Harrington, then it was aquatic camp and then Pecos in the interest of his boys.

On top of his Boy Scout activities, Oscar Hinger just happens to be the schoolmaster of the largest elementary school in the United States.

Get well quick, Oscar. Your community misses you.

We hope the national press will make every effort to bring through true pictures of Presidential candidates this year.

We have never seen such an effort before on the part of media to slant news.

One television commentator at the Cow Palace even suggested that the nomination of Barry Goldwater could lead to bloodshed. We have heard Goldwater speak on television many times and have spoken to him once personally. We have never had any trouble understanding him.

Some of our colleagues seem to misunderstand him intentionally. His now famous defoliation statement was distorted beyond all recognition. Goldwater told a television interviewer that low yield atomic weapons could be used to defoliate rain forests in Vietnam. This was only one of several alternatives he suggested.

Many journalists hopped on the statement declaring that Goldwater has urged immediate use of atomic weapons in Vietnam. ...

On the other side of the ledger, President Johnson's statement that he would "take from the haves and give to the have nots who need it so badly" was lifted out of context by some writers and shamefully twisted to indicate that private assets were about to be seized.

In context the Presidents simply said some government agencies had more money than they needed to operate. He proposed to take this surplus and use it in areas where it was needed.

We say again that the mission of the American journalist is to inform. Never has there been more avenues through which to get information—newspaper, television and radio. We doubt that it has ever been much harder to get at the truth.

We hope to see a clear picture of the candidates emerge as the campaign rolls along.

We've been reading a lot about polls. We've never been asked to take part in one. This week The Canyon News is starting a straw vote on the presidency. Ballots will be found on this page of this edition.

Everyone in Canyon will have an opportunity to take part in this poll.

Results will be published. We will run another poll the last week in September and if participation is good, we'll run a third poll the latter part of October.

Mrs. Fred Standley returned from Santa Fe, N. M., where she spent the week with her grandchildren. Her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Standley, Jr. attended the Democratic National Convention, where he served as a delegate from New Mexico.

Nancy Hicks Occupies Summer In Leadership

Nancy Hicks, a senior at Canyon High School, has this summer traced a trail of leadership from Chicago to Huntsville.

Beginning in July, Nancy led the Texas delegation of Future Homemakers of America to the National Convention.

Nancy, along with Gayle Rea and Mrs. Clara Long, Canyon High homemaker teacher, traveled to Chicago on a special train for the Texas delegation. The Texas delegation numbered 170 advisors and delegates.

The theme of the convention, "Education—An Endless Challenge" was carried out in the seven general sessions held.

Nancy points out that three thousand girls and advisors were present for the sessions.

"The idea they presented," she said, "was that one's education does not end with high school or college. It is a continuous process throughout one's life, and in order to be a successful individual, one must continue to educate himself."

Another of Nancy's duties as Texas FHA president at the convention was hosting a party in honor of the Texas delegation and the new national officers.

During hours not taken up by convention work, the delegates viewed Marshall Fields, one of the large department stores, and somehow all "managed to get lost!"

Among other experiences to remember, Nancy tells of her last night in Chicago, "we were so impressed by the size of Chicago, and yet we disliked it because it was so dirty. We were eating in the coffee shop of our hotel, the Conrad-Hilton, and a couple seated in front of us finished eating. When they left, they spoke to our sponsor. Then when we got ready to leave, we found that they had paid for our meal. They did this, not because we were the Texas delegation, or anything like that, but because they believed the FHA girls in general to be the nicest group using the hotel. After that we realized that people were much the same all over."

The Citizenship Seminar was yet another of Nancy's experiences to remember.

Different Farm Bureaus from across the state sent students to the campus of Sam Houston State College in Huntsville in August.

Also included in this group were two representatives from the state 4-H council, the state FFA president, and Nancy, state FFA prexy.

"There," she states, "we learned what our American Heritage is built on; about

Mrs. Clarence Eugene Thompson, wife of Canyon's Mayor, exhibits two of her hobbies. The cups, plate and pitcher are hand-painted china, with designs of flowers, fruit and scenery shown on them. Antiqued green, the record cabinet is an example of Mrs. Thompson's furniture refinishing technique.

Wife Of City's Mayor Participant In Activities

Most of our readers know our city officials, but this week we begin a series on meeting their wives.

They are a talented group of women, serving their community on various boards and clubs. Their homes are beautified by their own handiwork, including china painting, refinishing furniture, and sewing. In short, they are a fine representation of our city.

Heading the city government is, of course, the Mayor.

City voters of Canyon elected Clarence Eugene Thompson mayor in April of this year.

He and Mrs. Thompson, known as Sarah to her associates, have two children. Gail, age 10, will be in the fifth grade. Harold, a second grader, is seven years old.

Sarah finds little difference in being the wife of the mayor than in her life before the election.

"I don't think that politics have too much influence on the families of the city officials," she says.

In her life as "the mayor's wife," Sarah finds time to participate as an associate member of the University Study Club, and she also belongs to several bridge clubs.

The Thompsons are members of the First Presbyterian Church.

Both Clarence Eugene and Sarah were born in Canyon, and went to school together, beginning in grade school.

Sarah's work around the home includes time spent both indoors and out.

"My main interest right now is in china painting, and I have done some work with furniture refinishing. Then of course, I enjoy knitting, sewing, and cooking."

Several of the pieces of furniture in the Thompson home are some which Sarah has redone, including an antiqued green record cabinet, picture frames and bedroom furniture.

Sarah adds that her refinishing has been "mostly by trial and error," and the greater part of her work has been antiquing.

To obtain an antiqued finish on furniture, coats of flat paint in the desired color are applied to the article with either a brush or with steel wool for texture. The number of coats of paint will vary, depending on the intensity of color wished.

Then a mixture of linseed oil, turpentine and oil is placed over the antique finish, followed by a thorough sanding.

Following the application of the linseed oil and turpentine mixture, a coat of varnish is placed on the surface and allowed to dry.

After the application of two coats of varnish, followed both times by sanding, the final coat of satin varnish can be brushed on the furniture.

In this way, you can add to the beauty of your home, and have the fun of doing your own work, besides having that glow of pleasure that comes from saying "I made it myself."

Officers Seek Missing Pickup

Randall County Sheriff deputies and Texas Highway Patrolmen are investigating thefts of two pickups which occurred late Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning.

A pickup owned by Raymond Batenhorst was reported missing at 9:10 p.m. Tuesday.

Batenhorst said he heard the pickup motor and looked out to see the vehicle being driven off.

"I called the law right then. I couldn't see anything. They drove down the road for about 100 yards before they turned on the pickup lights," Batenhorst explained.

Batenhorst found the pickup early Wednesday morning in the water pond on the Ernest Barnett place.

"I followed the pickup trail early Wednesday morning. The pickup was driven through four fences and I just followed it hill," Sparks said.

Sparks said the Batenhorst residence is approximately six miles west of the Sparks home.

Batenhorst lives 13 miles southwest of Canyon on Farm to Market Road 1714.

Sheriff officers and highway patrol were still seeking the Sparks pickup at presstime Wednesday.

News Men Hosted At Press Day

The West Texas State football coaches and squad hosted more than 40 sports writers, broadcasters and local dignitaries at the annual Press Day luncheon at the university cafeteria last Monday.

Head coach Joe Kerbel introduced his assistants and athletes, giving background and anecdotes on each in a lighter vein much to the delight of the gathering.

Preceding Coach Kerbel's remarks, sports information director Lou Spry introduced representatives of the news media who were present.

Following the introductions, the squad dressed in game togs and went to Buffalo Bowl for a two-hour session before the cameras and microphones of the news media.

It was probably the last bit of levity for the squad for some time as the two-a-day workouts began at 6:20 a.m. Tuesday.

More $$$ Needed By Cables

Another plea for help has been issued for Mrs. C. B. Cable and her seven children.

Randall County Justice of the Peace W. A. "Bill" Wilson has again asked local persons to help complete the Cable home, located in the west end of town.

The Cable fund now has $600 in the bank and approximately $1300 is owed to local businesses, Wilson said.

"We like only the completion of the plumbing, wiring, laying a linoleum floor, carpet, and painting the inside before the house is finished," he continued.

"Wayne Wirt Electric will do the wiring, but we need people who will do the rest of the work," Wilson explained.

"When I was approached about the project by several local businessmen, we all had a sincere hope that we could help keep Mrs. C. B. Cable and her seven children together as a family unit."

"Mrs. Cable has enrolled six children in the Canyon Public schools and is working herself at the house preparing the walls for painting."

"Many good people have worked in many ways, some giving financially three and four times."

"I don't see how we can stop this project as far along as we are now. But we will not be able to continue if financial assistance is not forthcoming in the immediate future."

"In my job as justice of the peace, I know the importance of keeping a family together. Anything I can do I know will give me a better feeling at the end of the day," Wilson concluded.

Persons who wish to give time or money to the Cable project should contact Wilson in the Randall County Court-house annex.

"We need the money NOW. This family has been thoroughly checked by myself and other businessmen and we believe they would make a worthwhile community project," Wilson added.

ured into.

We fought...or rather the commentator fought, I hung on, until we got near a raised platform in the center of the mob.

All around us large placards bobbed to the rhythm of spirituals, which flowed off the Boardwalk toward high pitching waves of the Atlantic Ocean.

But inside the crowd breathing often was difficult. People were packed tightly together, as more and more attempted to get nearer the platform to hear various speakers and song leaders.

Suddenly and with little known official word, the crowd began to move toward the doors of the convention.

The Freedom delegates led the way to the guards, but from the limited position I held I could not see how many delegates were admitted.

I felt only the constant pushing of everyone toward the doors. I heard only loud talking above the continued hymn singing. I attempted only to catch a deep breath of fresh, salt-water air occasionally.

A man pushed a sign into my hand: "One Man, One Vote." The pressure toward the gate continued, increased if anything. Still I had no knowledge of what was being done by the guards, delegates, or inside the convention hall.

I joined in the singing of several of the old time spirituals as I was jostled from side to side and from front to back. One man with a delegation button on, glanced over and asked if I was a demonstrator. I shook my head and he suggested I join the forces.

"We need people who will sing and carry signs," he explained. Suddenly the pressure was released from the front, and I was pushed forward into the outer area of the hall.

As suddenly we stopped again. A man stepped backwards, my toe was underneath his shoe, and after a few painful moments I shuddered and realized I had a broken toe.

The crowd was immense and movement through it was impossible.

I satisfied myself by leaning against the back of some man taking the pressure off the flattened little toe.

More sounds floated through the hall toward us. Rumors were begun, stopped, picked up and retold throughout the crowd as people tried to find out what was going on.

At long last I saw a break through, and I headed toward it. I slipped past the guard and onto the convention floor. People were wandering around, unable to find seating, but not daring to leave for fear of not being able to get back in.

I found a single seat, told a little woman next to it to save it for me, and dashed (as one with a broken toe dashes) back outside to find out how the barred delegates were doing.

I saw the captain from New York in the crowd and headed towards her, but was engulfed in the crowd before I could reach her.

I turned to head back out, but my escape route was blocked. I spent the next two hours singing, pushing and remaining outside the convention hall.

I read in the Wednesday morning paper how I was among 2,000 people who had tried to "storm" the convention.

The next evening I tried simply to find a convenient spot to hear and see the nomination speeches for President Johnson and Hubert Humphrey, vice president nominee.

The crowd was immense and solid, so I turned my abilities to the press entrance.

Little did any of us know that Johnson had decided to fly to the convention town and nominate his choice in person.

From where I stood, not far from the hall, but not too near either, I heard the scream of sirens as the President's caravan arrived.

I stood near enough to see him, but not to shake his hand. And I stood too far away to get inside from my present location.

After a few pushy minutes, I arrived at another door, squeezed inside and collapsed against a staircase. From this vantage point I watched and listened to the rest of the evening's proceedings.

The cheering, demonstrations, sign waving and foot stomping continued throughout the speeches of Governor Johnson and President Johnson. From the floor of the convention little could be heard, but from the edge of the balcony the speakers could be seen and phrases picked up during lulls from the noisemakers.

Actual convention planning seemed to drag during the four days in Atlantic City, but excitement ran at a high peak if an observer was at the right place at the right time.

But the right place may have meant "storming" the convention or almost missing the President of the United States.

You understand why it takes so many news commentators to cover a national convention. One person can't fight the crowds to move from spot to spot, much less know where all the spots are located.

The broken toe, the deafened eardrums and the limited diet were all worth the week at the convention. Especially when you realize not everyone is asked to join a group of Negro demonstrators...just those with loud voices.

The high school registers 17.3 increase, which is above the average for the other two schools.

In a breakdown of each school, Laycock said the elementary school has an enrollment figure of 1,164 this fall. The junior high school has 547 students in the seventh and eighth grade levels. Added to the 454 students in high school, the total is 2,165.

Canyon public school system employs 101 professional people, Laycock said.

Jaycees Provide Rest Stop

A Labor Day Rest Stop for holiday motorists will be provided this weekend by Canyon Junior Chamber of Commerce members.

The Canyon Jaycees will work with the Amarillo Jaycees in a joint rest stop project. Two tents will be set up near the West Texas State University farm on the E-Way.

Men from both organizations will serve drivers and their families coffee, tea or other drinks for the children during the four-day weekend.

Beginning Friday evening at 6 o'clock, two men from each club will be serving assisted by members of the Canyon Jaycees and the Amarillo Jaycees.

Both men and women will work around the clock stopping motorists in an effort to prevent accidents over the holidays.

The tents will be set up between the E-Way and the service road north of Canyon.

The workers will work four hour shifts Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday. The tents will be taken down around 3 a.m. Tuesday.

Charles Marshall is chairman of the rest stop project for Canyon. Ronald Dodd is Amarillo chairman.

Signs will be placed up near the stop for motorists, and a wrecked vehicle will be on display near the tents.

Safety pamphlets will be given each car and persons stopping will be asked to sign a registration book.

A self-addressed card will be given to the driver of each vehicle and the Jaycees will ask each person to write back their thoughts concerning the rest stop.

"Our purpose is to have people get out and stretch their legs, perhaps they will slow down some. We want to cut down on the number of accidents which occur each year over the holiday weekend," Marshall said.

The BBA in business economics would also be administered jointly by the School of Business and economics-government-sociology department.

Flexibility would be allowed in the proposed Master of Science program, with 30 semester hours required with a thesis, and 36 semester hours with no thesis.

"We feel that a Master of Science is more appropriate for degrees in sciences and mathematics than the Master of Arts which is now being granted," Dr. Cornette said. "Students would have an option on the writing of a thesis, which the science departments feel is not necessary or advisable in most cases."

Jaycees In Torch Run

Canyon Jaycees will be participating in "Run For Money," a project to gain grassroots support for the US Olympic Team.

The cross country run began September 1 in Foley Square in New York City, with Jesse Owens, olympic team member carrying the torch.

The torch is expected through Amarillo on September 16, when Canyon Jaycees will supply runners for the 21 mile run from Bushland to Vega.

United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with the Thom McCann Shoe Company is sponsoring the 3,155 mile run.

Approximately 3500 runners are expected to participate in the attempt to provide training facilities for the United States Olympic Team, by raising one million dollars.

The run will end in the Los Angeles Coliseum, and will have national coverage by news media, including radio, press, and television during the entire period.

Local Jaycees are planning various ways to collect money for the project, which has the endorsement of the United States Olympic Committee.

GEHL Chop-All Mower Bar
mows off tall or short; chops fine

No crop too tall. None too short — for the new Gehl Chop-All Mower Bar. With one-two precision you mow forage clean; then chop fine for better packing in silos.

Retracting fingers on the powered feed roller keep the crop "on the move" from auger to chopper throat. Eliminates crop bunching and slow-downs. Three power-driven compression rollers then flatten the crop... hold it tight. The payoff: Six chrome-edged knives and long-lasting tungsten-carbide cutter bar turn out famous Gehl fine chopping.

Gehl's new Select-A-Cut transmission lets you vary forage length—short, medium or long—with the push of a lever. New Easy-Swing drawbar adjusts right from the tractor seat. A rigid tripod (optional) holds the forage deflector more firmly in place.

Fall Workouts Underway For Kerbel's Buffaloes

Several things confronted West Texas State head football coach Joe Kerbel Tuesday morning when the Buffaloes opened fall practice with two-a-day workouts.

Not the least of Kerbel's problem was the prospect of the toughest schedule in the school's 55-year football history.

Among the 1964 opponents are Memphis State, whose only blemish in 10 games last year was a tie with Mississippi; Ohio, defending Mid-American Conference champions; old rival Texas Tech of the Southwest Conference; Texas Western, which blanked WTSU 13-0 in last year's finale for the only whitewashing Kerbel has received here; Missouri Valley conference member North Texas State; always tough Arizona State U, which has not lost more than three games in any of the last eight seasons; and West Coast power San Jose State.

Seventeen lettermen return, but many were pressed into service because of a rash of 1963 injuries. Gone are Pistol Pete Pedro who netted 2,157 yards in his career; all around performer Jerry Richardson, now a defensive back with the Los Angeles Rams of the NFL; bruising fullback Ollie Ross; quarterback Hoot Gibson; both starting ends and tackle and one starting guard.

All is not gloom, however, as Jolly Joe chortles over the return of the Original Buffalo, fullback Russ Mundy, centers Charlie Daves and Doc Rowell and tackle Bobby Walton. Lettermen ends Woody Gilliland, Bruce Kimery and Butch Walterscheid have drawn considerable praise from assistant coach Sleepy Harris and this must be rated one of the Buffaloes' strong points.

Halfbacks Flash Flanagan, Jerry King, Tony Waters and Earl West all were awarded 1963 monograms. King and West spent most of their game time on defense and are highly rated in this specialty. Transfer Jimmy Williams, a 180-pound speedster from Los Angeles where he does social work for an adoption agency in the summer, was the star of the team.

Death Takes Father Of Mrs. Henson

C. B. Wiggs, 75 years old, father of Mrs. Virgil Henson of Canyon, died Friday night at Commerce. He suffered a heart ailment.

Mr. Wiggs, a retired farmer had lived at Commerce all his life. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at Commerce.

Mr. Wiggs was preceded in death by a daughter, Mrs. Rhea Tydings of Hobbs, N. M.

Survivors, other than Mrs. Henson, include the wife; a son, Aubrey of San Juan; and three daughters. Mrs. Virginia Murschel of Mt. Pleasant, Utah, Mrs. Nita Clark of Commerce and Mrs. Frances Grayson of Trinidad, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Pond and Ivan vacationed last week at Ruidosa, N. M., and visited with her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Trout.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Pond and Ivan visited Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pfeffer and Gary of Borger and drove over to view the Canadian dam site.

mer, was the starting right half when spring training ended and appears to have this job sewed up.

Senior Bill Bundy will open at quarterback, but sophomores Greg Klein and Dave Fleming gained valuable game experience last year after having been pressed into service when Hoot Gibson and Bundy were injured.

Backing Mundy is Bill Young, a 211-pounder from Tulare, California, who lists among his credentials 613 yards rushing and 11 touchdowns at College of the Sequoias last year and a high school All-American award before that tour. Young is rated highly enough that Kerbel feels the attack will not suffer when Mundy is being rested.

In addition to Walton, Wilton Manley will probably start at the other tackle spot. However, tackle assistant C. E. "Dierk" Dierking believes junior giant George Allen (6-7, 240) could break the starting lineup at any time. "George needs experience to find himself," says Dierking, "but we don't think he's a year away."

Junior letterman Terry Funk, Vern Kosub and Dave Sims are the returning guards of note. They will be pressed by senior Dannie Patterson, a squad member, and Wally Johnson and Jim Pope, also juniors.

"If we can escape serious injury during the first half of the season," Kerbel said, "I think we will be a representative team during the final weeks of the campaign."

Last Rites Held For N.S. Steen

Funeral services for a gunshot victim were conducted Tuesday afternoon in Amarillo with Portis Ribble of the Anna Street Church of Christ officiating.

Burial for Norman S. Steen, 45, of Canyon, was held in Llano Cemetery.

Mr. Steen died Monday in Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo from a gunshot wound. He accidentally shot himself Aug. 22 while inspecting a pistol, according to Randall County sheriff's department.

He was employed as a builder by Bob Ferrin Construction Co. He was born at Wilson and was a member of the Baptist Church.

Survivors include his wife, Pauline of the home; daughters, Mrs. Jack Sizemore, Jr. and Mrs. Melba Knowles of Amarillo; sons, Norman DeWayne of Amarillo and David Rickie of the home; brother, Chester of Hemet, California, Howell of Grand Prairie, Gates of Austin, and Conoley and Buster of Brownfield; sisters, Alda Mae Steen, Mrs. Patricia Anderson and Mrs. Forrest Stubblefield, all of Brownfield, Mrs. Sallomae Holgate of Lubbock and Mrs. Venice Brandt of Holland, and two grandchildren.

Mrs. Lucy Stinson of Springfield, Missouri has been visiting with her aunt, Mrs. Myrtle Wester.

Victory Cry

Five pretty girls will lead the Happy High School student body in cheers this fall as the Cowboys take the field in the 1964 season. The girls are, front row left to right, Susan McManigal and

Coach Joe Kerbel, left, is shown here chatting with Houston Deford and Homer Smith, both of Amarillo, at a Buff workout Monday. Buffs were host to several area newsmen and fans for a luncheon and then they suited up to pose for photographers. Kerbel delighted guests with humorous chitchat about players in spite of the fact that he is suffering from a painful back ailment which he described as "a hitch in my gait along."

Canyon Girl Presented Auxiliary Essay Award

Rose Ellen Parker received a VFW auxiliary essay writing award Sunday at a joint meeting here of the District 13 VFW and auxiliary. Making the presentation was Mrs. Bill Pond, president of the Canyon auxiliary.

Rose Ellen won first place here with her essay and was second in state-wide competition. The essay dealt with the exchange student in America and opportunity for friendship.

Dr. T. Paige Carruth represented Canyon Chamber of Commerce in making a welcoming speech. Response was by Cal Stephens, local commander, and Fred Shipman, Plainview, district commander.

The auxiliary served a luncheon at the VFW building.

Mrs. Naomi Fink of Tulsa presided over an auxiliary business meeting at which routine business was conducted.

Commander Shipman presided over a VFW business meeting.

VFW members voted to sponsor junior rifle teams for district competition. Other phases of youth activity and community programs were discussed as well as a forthcoming VFW membership drive.

More than 100 attended the district meeting here. The next district gathering will be held in three months at Childress.

Mr. and Mrs. Clee Pond, C. G. Pond and Ivan returned over the weekend from a vacation trip to Albuquerque, N. M. where they visited with her sister, Mrs. Ann Mitchell and family.

CHILDREN OF all ages were present for the Texas Reading Club party held Saturday morning at the Olympic Theatre. Mrs. Allen Parson, a member of the Canyon Jaycees-ettes, is shown helping Richard (center) and David Morris with refreshments following the program.

Kids Given Party By Reading Club

A party Saturday morning climaxed the Summer Reading Program for Randall County.

The program was held at the Olympic Theatre, under the sponsorship of the Randall County Public Library.

Out of 162 registered for the program, nearly 75 boys and girls attended the morning party.

Mrs. Cristler Crain, county representative to the library board, welcomed the group and introduced County Judge Wayland Angel, who awarded the certificates to members.

Names of members were presented by Mrs. Chester Pierle, librarian.

Certificates were awarded to all children who had read 12 books or more.

The program was not competitive, and no award was given to the person reading the most. However some readers had read as many as 38 books.

Mrs. Michael Morris was presented with a certificate in the name of her daughter, Elizabeth Ann. Elizabeth Ann, 7, was killed in an automobile accident June 10, and had met requirements for the certificate.

Thanks were extended to Charles Donnell, owner of the Canyon Theatres, for his loan of the theatre, and to Mrs. Joseph Findley for the use of the films.

Also assisting with the program were Mrs. Johnny Raymond and Mrs. Roy Forehand, library board members representing the Canyon Study Club.

Following the presentation, films including "Johnny Appleseed," and "Playful Pelican" were shown.

Canyon Friends of the Library, under the leadership of Roy Fortune, served ice cream at the end of the party. Assisting with serving were members of Canyon Jaycees-ettes, Mrs. Meade Michael, Mrs. Allen Parson, Mrs. Jackie Whitley and Mrs. Rex Griffin.

Canyon participated in the program, jointly sponsored by the Texas Library Association, for the first time this year.

Among favorite types of books named by young readers were mystery, westerns, books about animals, and historical.

Final Rites Held For Canyon Man

Last rites were conducted Monday afternoon for a Randall County rancher and farmer, Ben Ayres Lippold, 65.

Mr. Lippold died Saturday afternoon in Hillhaven Convalescent Hospital in Amarillo, where he had been a patient for several months.

Services were held in Boxwells Ivy Chapel with Rev. Ross Blasingame, pastor of the Book-er Church of Christ, officiating. Burial followed in the Fairview Cemetery of Pampa. Mr. Lippold, who was born in Fort Worth, moved to the Panhandle in 1902.

He attended school in Pampa and at New Mexico Military Institute in Roswell, New Mexico. He farmed and ranched near Pampa until 1950 when he moved to Canyon.

He and his wife, Mollie, who were married Nov. 20, 1920, lived 14 miles northwest of Canyon.

Mr. Lippold was a veteran of World War I and was a member of the American Legion and the Southwestern Cattlemen's Association.

Survivors include his wife of the home; a son, B. C. of Canyon; a brother, Henry J. of Lamesa; and five grandchildren.

Watermelon For Scout Troop 66

Members of Troop 66 and their families met at the First Christian Church Monday night for a watermelon feast.

Leroy Moreland, assistant scoutmaster, conducted the business meeting for the troop. Activities for the coming year were tentatively proposed.

A new Senior Patrol within the troop will be formed. The eight boys in the patrol will serve as junior assistants, and will be required to meet other qualifications.

Gene Morrison and Norbert Young received advancement in rank to First Class. Advancing to Star Award were Steve Russell and C. L. Miller. Rob Upfold was advanced to Life.

It was also announced that Oscar Hinger, scoutmaster, who has been ill for several weeks, is recovering very well.

Troop members ended the meeting by watching films and slides of the Possum Kingdom fishing and skiing trip in June, the Sip-a-pu skiing trip last winter, the Pecos Wilderness trip in August, and the National Jamboree in July.

Mrs. Jean Brazzil, an employee of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, was recently presented with a bracelet honoring her for fifteen years service with the company. Mrs. Brazzil has been an operator for all but the past year, when she was appointed service representative.

Board Clears Way For Frat, Sorority Lodges

A site for the location of fraternity and sorority lodges and policies for the administration of the social groups at West Texas State University were approved Saturday in Alpine by the Board of Regents of Texas State Teachers Colleges.

The board okayed a long-range development plan last October which would place fraternity and sorority lodges on university land. Plans for a definite location and lease arrangements were approved Saturday.

Lodges, which for the present will not include dormitory housing, are to be located on a parcel of land east of the main campus in an area on the north side of the Palo Duro Park state highway, between the National Guard Armory and a strip of private residences. About two city blocks of private land separate the main campus and the area marked for lodges.

President James P. Cornette said that lots of approximately one and a half acres will be allotted to each social club on a 99-year lease plan for the consideration of $1 a year. The lots are large enough to allow for off-street parking and for future enlargement of the lodges for housing and living accommodations.

Minimum standards for construction have been set, but clubs will be allowed wide latitude and freedom in building. The university architect will be consulted to assure sound construction, Dr. Cornette said.

Each fraternity will assume responsibility for providing utilities, street paving, street lighting, landscaping, and other improvements in the fraternity area. Maintenance of property and grounds must be at a reasonable level.

No fraternity or sorority has made plans for construction of a lodge at present, and it is expected that none will be ready for about two years at the least, according to Dr. T. Paige Caruth, dean of student life.

Canyon M-I-L Sets Meeting

The Canyon Mother-In-Law Club will meet in the home of Mrs. W. I. Wester on September 10.

The club will again hold its meeting at 2:30 p.m.

Co-hostesses for the meeting will be Mesdames R. D. Lowry, H. C. Hudson, and D. N. McClenock.
